THE CLASS OF 1953

As Shakespeare has said, "All the world is a stage and all the men and women merely players"; to the teen-ager, however, life is a circus—not all gaiety and laughter but seriousness and purpose, too. The students of John Marshall High lift the flap of the circus tent as an invitation to the reader to join in the thrilling performances that have taken place this year in Marshall's three rings—classroom activities, social events, athletics. Right inside you will find a stupendous collection of experiences—yours to relive and enjoy. Along the way, the teachers, as managers, have introduced and explained the wonders of knowledge. Proceeding on the midway, the students have encountered various circus folk—the entertaining clown, the persuasive barker, the shouting roustabout, the daredevil trapeze artist—all presenting joys and sorrows, laughter and tears, successes and disappointments . . .

Yes, this year Marshall's bigtop overflowed with rich experiences which contributed in making us intelligent citizens of the world.

Fred -
Best always

THE BIG TOP

DEDICATION

"To you we offer our loyal affection."

Yes, to you, John Marshall High School, we, the Class of 1953, do offer our loyal affection, and that affection stems from a deep source; that source is our parents, who have taught us to love, to laugh, and to think. We could not have achieved the smallest degree of success without their guidance and encouragement. In recognition, therefore, of their devotion, understanding, and patience, we, the Class of 1953, proudly dedicate the John Quill to our parents.

Now turn the page, lift up the flap of the circus tent, and be light-hearted and happy with the students at work or at play under the "Big Top."

The CIRCUS is here!

You marvel at its magnificence, its daring, its skill, its perfection. Heads turn this way and that way to take in the whole performance. So much is going on that you become confused, but you are having a wonderful time just the same.

And so it can be with life as you are living it now—right here at John Marshall High School—the excitement, the commotion, the activity! But with this difference—YOU are putting on the show. Will it be a good one?

The perfection achieved in a circus performance is the result of years of painstaking preparation on the part of all the actors. What about the role you will play in life when your turn is called! Will you be ready? The role that each of you will play will be different—not everyone can be a clown, a bareback rider, or an acrobat. The performance would be dull if everyone did the same thing. Perfection is reached in life, as in the circus, when each performer is doing that at which he is best prepared and in tune with the whole show.

You've put in many years of hard work and study getting ready for the show. Soon the calliope will begin to play—the show will go on—no matter what happens. Are you ready with your act?

Every circus has its ringmasters—Marshall is no exception. By guiding the interests and abilities of every student, by helping them to solve their personal problems, and by discovering hidden talent, the advisers have directed the students to give a finished performance. ## SCIENCE

Future chemists, biologists and physicists gathered daily in the labs and classrooms of the science department eagerly seeking new roads of scientific travel. Problems which baffled the alchemists were mastered in chemistry classes; Einstein's equation of relativity helped in physics classes; and actual, preserved specimens gave biology students a clearer understanding of this science.

BUSINESS

In the field of business training, many students took the opportunity to learn shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, office practice, and business law. A co-operative plan gave seniors the chance to apply their knowledge through training on the job, and commercial students also served as secretaries and messengers for faculty members to gain further secretarial experience.

MATHEMATICS

Higher mathematics such as solid geometry, advanced algebra, and trigonometry, along with general elementary math, intermediate algebra, and plane geometry were offered to students interested in this field of study. This training was given as an invaluable aide in any occupation, and under the expert guidance of our math teachers, the students were versed in the fundamentals.

HISTORY

This year the social studies department was primarily concerned with teaching good citizenship which included social understanding and effective participation in a democratic society. It was realized by the corps of students that democracy as a way of life cannot be passed on from generation to generation simply by inheritance, without losing some of its vitality. The faculty tried in this branch to achieve its goal, by drawing upon the resources of history, government, geography, economics, and sociology.

Librarians
B. Grinnell, K. Uderitz

When a quiet place was needed in which students could study, the library, under the guidance of Miss Grinnell and her capable assistants, was the place to which students often turned. Whether the student was interested in doing research work or in reading for personal enjoyment, he found the shelves filled with the best books in every field.

Because of the complexity of business affairs and the great amount of clerical work concerned with the school, our big top has maintained a capable and patient staff to handle all clerical work and to dispense information.

C. Fortune, M. Burdick.

Nurse
Frances Heaney

Every circus has its 'roust-a-bouts' and medical staff, and our super menagerie is no exception. Our custodians, whose job it was to prepare our school for social events, to keep the building and grounds in good condition, and to maintain a warm and comfortable building, served us well during the past year.

The lunchroom staff prepared excellent meals to whet the appetites of Marshall's performers. They also prepared tempting delicacies for many of Marshall's social events.

Miss Heaney, our nurse, gave aid to those requiring it and helped retain good health among the big-top performers.

ORCHESTRA

The orchestra, offering another outlet for musically talented students, grew considerably this year. Besides its annual Spring Concert, the orchestra played for assemblies.

Mr. Roy Thrall, the instrumental director, was the nucleus around which these organizations revolved.

John Marshall High School certainly had reason this year to be proud of its growing instrumental music organization.

One of the purposes of the Senior Band was to promote school spirit and enthusiasm in assemblies, and at football and basketball

The rating committee, with Ruth VanLare and Robert Ihrig as student chairman, and Mrs. Olmstead as the faculty adviser, was successful in the determination of individual ratings. Each homeroom rating clerk computed the rating of each student in his homeroom and handed in the report to the central committee.

Behind the Scenes

Each Monday morning the elected bank clerk of each homeroom busily collected the money from thrifty students. This year a new program simplified banking for the clerk as well as the students. By this new system each banking student was provided with his own envelope into which the money and banking slip were placed.

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

This, the purpose of all Hi-Y's throughout the United States, serves as a basis for planning the activities of Hi-Y clubs. In addition to the business meetings of every social organization, the Hi-Y program consists of service projects, such as doing volunteer work at the Y M C A, showing pictures at the Home for the Aged and giving aid to the needy; educational programs such as important speakers, field trips to places of interest and problem discussion periods; and social meetings, such as bowling parties, dances and holiday parties.

TRI-Y's

The solemn installation service was only the beginning for the newly inducted members of Tri-Y. This society is not only a part of John Marshall but reaches out as a great sisterhood all over the world. It was not long before members found themselves on committees to plan such social events as Hi-Y - Tri-Y dances, spaghetti suppers, Christmas caroling, and splash parties. The weekly meetings strove toward better understanding of oneself and others through speakers and films on dating, family relations, cosmetics, and etiquette. Under the supervision of young and enthusiastic advisers, the girls learned how to plan programs and carry them through—emphasizing the essential quality of leadership.

SOCCER

The 1953 edition of the Marshall soccer team, under the able eye of coach Anthony Gerace, booted its way to Marshall's third consecutive city and section V championship. The Jurists found little competition in the inter-scholastic league circuit as they extended their win skein to 29 straight.

Leading the scoring for the second year in a row was Don Spieler, who blasted 39 points through the enemy uprights. The team itself garnered 134 points to the opposition's 11. This is believed by many to be a national record. Guarding the nets for the pitchmen was a trio of goalkeepers consisting of Ed Caress, Walt Kleinhenz and Werner Preissing. A definite factor in the team's success was a teen-age diplomat by the name of "Gigi" Melega who played a brand of soccer which is seldom seen in inter-scholastic circles.

After conquering all eight of the city high schools, the Orange and Blue pitchmen swept aside Spencerport in a decisive 12 to 1 victory in the opening game of the Section V soccer tournament. In the final fray the Marshall men dropped the visitors from Hornell by a score of 6 to 3 to capture the sectional crown.

The Strong Men

Hard hit by streaks of bad luck, the John Marshall gridmen finished the 1952 season with a record of two wins and five losses. Although this record is not particularly impressive, the football fortunes at Marshall seem to be improving.

There were several individual standouts for the team. Bruce Sullivan, whose stellar playing at left end held up that side of the line, was awarded a position on the first team all-league squad. Dick Holzschuh at center and John Marvin at fullback, really helped the team with their terrific play. For their efforts, they received awards from the Touch-down Club.

Coach Davis was ably assisted this year by Mr. Butz and Mr. Stewart.

Although Marshall lost its entire team from last year, this year's team, former reserve league champions, displayed good teamwork and the ability to come back after a poor start. In the first half of season play, the hoopsters were unable to record a single win. In the second half of the campaign, however, they picked up two wins and lost some close heartbreakers. High single game scoring honors went to Bill Schaeffer who recorded 20 points in one game. He also holds the highest total for the season with 181 points, averaging 10.2 per game. Bill Reeves was second highest with 135 points followed by Don Axon, Dick Holzschuh, Don Spieler and Bruce Sullivan. The final record gave the boys two wins against 14 losses in league competition.

With the Greatest of Ease

After twelve years and one hundred and fourteen consecutive victories, the record of the Marshall swimming team was finally broken. While trying for their one hundred and fiftieth win against a favored Franklin team, the finmen suffered defeat. The meet was close and it was not until the last race, the 200 yard relay, that the outcome was decided. Franklin won that race and put an end to a great record. The swimmers, led by co-captains Ron Waytalak and Bill Caprio, went through the remainder of the season undefeated. Special honors go to Ron Waytalak for setting a city record in the 100 yard backstroke. Pool records were broken by Bill Caprio in the 100 yard freestyle and by Gordon Jewett in the individual medley. Ken Mansfield, DeWitt Kirchmaier, Dick Davis, Bill DuBiel, Gordon French, Chuck Farrell, Roger Rhoades and Norm Files were other consistent winners.

The Jurists, led by Bill Caprio, who won both the 100 yard freestyle and the 100 yard breaststroke, Roger Rhoades who won the 200 yard freestyle, and Ron Waytalak, who set a new record in winning the 100 yard backstroke, successfully defended their sectional title for the 19th straight year.

WRESTLING

This year, Marshall had one of the top flight wrestling teams in the city. After an early season loss to Madison, the matmen began to score wins with regularity under the coaching of Mr. Davis.

Gene La Mendola and Louie Watson went undefeated while Paul Bonnet, Earl Wadman, Ron Van Putte and Ed Ingerick lost only one match.

TRACK

Other standouts were Ron Harter, Norrie Trevor and Bruce Sullivan.

Pitching chores were handled by Don Hollwedel and southpaw Sam Farah while Ed Pestke expertly handled the catching.
